

Machine hall

New space for agricultural vehicles

Astron and its French Partner Batiments d'Entreprises de L'Ouest - „Chrysalis“ have constructed a new machine hall in France. The result is so convincing that the Builder has received an award for the steel hall. The customer Rault is an agricultural company, which is also very enthusiastic about the new building. In particular, the customer was impressed by the functionality and the fast erection of the new site.

The new machine hall in Poilley has an area of 1,400 m². The machine hall is divided into different functional areas. At the front, a glass facade with green design details invites customers into the showroom and its exhibition space. In addition to the workshop in which repair service is offered, the building complex also has a warehouse for spare parts.

The agricultural equipment is exhibited on outdoor parking spaces. A paradise for technically enthusiastic farmers!
